

Instructions to contributors to the special issue of the Quarterly Review of Distance Education: “The historical context of international distance education and its influence on today’s developments”

The editors of the special issue, Lya Visser and Charles Schlosser, are pleased to receive articles on the history of distance education from international distance education practitioners. The deadline for submission is July 1, 2004.

We request you to adhere to the following guidelines:

- Contributions are accepted for publication provided that copyright clearance is obtained in writing for those materials subject to copyright
- Contributions should be in English. Word limit 3500 words
- An abstract of between 100 and 150 words should be enclosed
- The papers should be submitted double spaced and in Times Roman 12.
- Authors should adhere to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (5th ed.)
- References should be listed at the end of the paper.

Authors should email their contributions to: lvisser@learndev.org before July 1, 2004.

The editors would welcome a short outline of the contribution. It may be followed up with extensive email contact or a phone call by the editors.
